Louisville Manufactures.

BRUSHES, BASKETS, BLACKING AND DOXES. BRUSHES.-The making of clothes, hair, black og, scrubbing and dusting brushes is carried on T two or three firms in this city to the extent of about $15,000 per aunum. The three establishments named below employ twenty hands, to whour are paid weekly wages amounting to about $20). The capital invested in the making of these rticles is about $5,000. We understand a new factory is about being established, with sufficient capacity and mechanical power to equal all the houses now engaged in the business. Messrs Wunsch & Bro. are also preparing to enlarge their factory and extend their business.

The manufacturers of brushes are: Leonard, James - Twelfth, between Walnut and Madison.

Schrader, Chas.-Chetsnut, between Hancock Wunsch & Bro.-Chestnut, beiween Harcock and Clay, and Third, between Market and Jeffer son streets. BASKETS .- Baskets, chairs and other willowware are manufactured in a small way by two or three houses whose aggregate business will amount to about $12,000 per annum. The capital invested is about $1,000, and the business gives my loyment to about twelve hands.

Andrew Fritz and B. Swabel make a large nun per of market baskets for the city trade, in which there are several houses largely engaged, who are compelled to import a large preportion of their

It may not be invidious to mention the change which has taken place in the last few years in regard to the manufacture and trade iu brushes, baskets, &c. Mr. J. B. Russell, 500 Main street, who does a large business in this trade, in forms us that the trade in these articles with Cincinnati bas been almost entirely urrested and confined to city manufactures. We do not asser! that trade is carried on in this line with Cincinnati, ut mean to say that it is not done to the neglect of our own inauufacturers, as was formerly the use. The same articles are now furnished by our manufacturers to city dealers cheaper than they can be obtained at Conciunati. The supply is sh to our own work. from Professor C. W. WRIGHT, of this city, giv ing the particulars of the discovery of another inmense Cave only a few miles from the Maninoth Cave. That letter, we observe, bas been xtensively copied by the press in all sections of such interest and attention. On Friday last, we ublished a second letter from Professor Vright, detailing at length the discovery of anther wonderful cave in Edmonson county, about five miles from Mammoth Cave. The descriptio of the cave was full of interest, and will, no doubt, he generally read and copied. That section of Kentucky heats all creation for moustrous and magnificent holes in the ground. We probably did the F. F. V. of the Cininnati Enquirer injustice in supposing and saving that be was the writer of the stunid and rindictive attacks upon the Courier which have recently appeared in the columns of that paper, as we see by disputches to the Cincinnati papers that the distinguished individual is at present absent at Washington. Of course, then, the ass of the Enquirer is none other than Blossy, the beautiful creature, whose insignificance is his pro

House Thier Arresten .- The Cynthiana Age says that an Irishman, named Patrick English on Monday last appropriated a horse belonging to John S. Day, which was bitched on one of the streels in that city. The thief was followed, arrested, and committed, in default of $500, to an swer the charge against him at the November term of the Harrison Circuit Conrt. INAUGURATION BALL .- A grand ball will be given at the Capital Hotel, Frankfort, on Tuesday evening, the 30th inst., on the occasion of the inauguration of Gov. Magotlin. It will doubtless be a brilliant affair, and graced by the at- liciting money for the purchase of her daughter, DANVILLE FAIR .- The Eighth Annual Fair of the Central Kentucky Stock, Agricultural and the Rev. W. Y. THE BARDSTOWN BRANCH OF THE L. & N. R. R .- This enterprise, as we learn from the Bardstown (fazette, is near a successful consummation. On Monday last the laying of the track was comneuced at the juuction, and will progress steadily and uninterruptedly until completed. About a quarter of a mile will be laid daily until the ties are all delivered, when the work will proceed at After arriving here at the wharf he re-appeared the rate of half a mile a day. Thirty thousand tles are already delivered, and tho rest are conwith false whiskers, and rode his stallion into the city. Policemen got on his track, and finally tracted for. Splendid l'eaches .- Some of the largest peaches n the tables of the Horticultural Society, on Satarday last, were grown by Mr. Hillenmeyer, of Fayette county, and sent for exhibition by Messrs. C. E. Mooney & Co, of Lexington. They were called "Monstrous White Clings," and as heir weight averaged about twelve ounces each hey attracted no little attention and admiration. ome idea of their size may be formed from the act that a dozen of them were all that could he acked in n cheese box of the capacity of twentyive pounds. Messrs. Mooney & Co. have purhused Mr. Hillenmeyer's entire crop, and are, wo inderstand, shipping them daily to Cincinnati, Frankfort, Paris, Georgetown and Versailles.

A VILE SCOUNDREL. - Wm. Fisher was sent to he workhouse last week for a misdemeanor in carrying concealed iron knucks. He begged hard to be released, and said his child was sick, out the Judge was inexorable. Sheriff Hamilton, of Washington county, Indiana, saw an necount of it in the Courier, and from our graphic reporof the case, knew it was a fellow who had fled that county for a piece of scoundrelism. Fisher there violated the person of a little girl about ten days prior to his arrest here. The sherill came af ter him Saturday, and he is now in a fair way for a term of twenty-one years in the State prison.

IMPURE WATER IN CINCINNATI AND NEW YORK .-Great excitement exists in New York and Cincin nati, caused by the impurity and off nsive taste o the water. A chemical analysis has been made o the water, and its impurity has been shown to arise from decayed vegetable matter in the reserdered ill from its effects, the physiciaus declare that there is nothing poisonous about the water probably been caused by its nauseating smell and

It is probably the most successful county fair in the West, and its exhibitions are always largely attended. Bourbon county is the center of one of the finest stock raising sections in the conutry, and its citizens pride themselves ou their aperior horses, cattle and "old Bourbon whisky." We have no doubt the approaching fair of the Bourbou Society will equal if it does not surpass any which have preceded it. ACCIDENT TO AN ACTRESS .- Adah Isaacs Menker was severely injured on the 4th inst., on the Shell Road, New Orleans. It appears that Adah is the owner of a very fine horse, which she has had in training for the last five years. He is a spirited animal, full of fire, and fond of leaping a fivebarred gate. [Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.]

[Special Dispatch to the Concurrent trazette.]

BALTHORER, August 19, P. M.—The Milan correspondent of the New York Times writes:

The Piedmontese who are here are incensed at the arbitrary acts of the Covernment, and many protests excluded from the journais of Milan find their way to those of Thrin. But for the most state of the covernment, and many protests excluded from the journais of Milan find their way to those of Thrin. their way to those of Form. But for the most part the Lombards take these things quietly. It is Itahan Government, they say, and Venice is will inder Austria. Let us keep quiet. Lut us help Central Italy to sustain its freedom. Tuscany, Belogna, Parma and Modena annexed to Pieci-Helegna, Parma and Modena annexed to Pieel-mont, give a population of 12,000,000, and hence an army of 200,000 could soon be placed in battle array. With these we can make head against Austria and free Venice. Until that is done we prefer to keep peace, and not to gramble about internal reforms. When Italy is independent it will be time enough to agitate for greater liberty. And this is the tenor of discourse among adclusses. I think they are right. The knot of the Italian question lies to day in Central Laty. Difficulty exists in the anexton of Rome. I have instituted. culty exists in the question of Rome. I have just parted with a Venetian priest esc ped from Verona. You would weep to hear his description of the state of the Venetian provinces. He, poor of the state of the venetian provinces. Those who had none abarrand bringen places. had none sharpened knives, and waited for the long expected signal to thing themselves on their oppressors. Twelve days passed. That signal came not; but instead, news of armistice. Still, such was truth, joy, hope, that no fear was entertained for the future. Five days more, and tidings of peace on the Mincio fell like a thunderboit on the expecting patriots. Would to God I had died before I had seen the day, (sobbed the poor priest in his recital.) They were mad, mad. My poor people, they rushed about the streets, ly poor people, they rushed about the streets, obbling, weeping, brandishing their weapons, so mad, so frantic that the Austrians hid liemselves. They leared the fury of the population in its first builition. Orders were given that no provoca-ion should be offered. Placards in Verona, as in tion should be offered. Placards in Verona, as in Padua, were withdrawn, and others, announcing that the news was false, and that its authors were arrested, were substituted. A caim succeeded the storm. SATURDAY, July 20.—Last evening we received Ulloa's order of the day to the Tuscan army, and also Fartin's proclamation to the Modenese. Itoth have greatly tended to re-assure the minds of the people here. Acting, all think most judicionaly, Piedmont has recalled her Commissioners in his Central Italy, in order that no color may be given to the calumnies invented by the French press, as to the pressure exercised over the people in the choice of their future governor. Farmi was one of these commissioners, and with all the tact of an ex-republican and an ex-conspirator, he has used his powers well. No sooner had he reused his powers well. No sooner had he resigned as royal commissioner than Modeness created him citizen and named him Dictator, unanimously. His proclamation, which I shall not translate, as they are nearly all alike, concludes: "Fellow citizens: I have faith in our destines and in the justice of public opinion, and if the favire holds for you are a discussions takes If the future bolds for you some deficult tests, the fact of my heing first in honors, will give me the Sardiniun arms, was dangerously wounded at St. Martin's, and this fact by no means diminishes the enthusiasm of the Modenese for Farmi which serves as another warning to ladies who 'splurge' in brass." The Tuscan army, halting at Molana on its way Tuscany, was welcomed with heartfelt joy. The Times says: "As her relations with Anstria and Germnay grow daily more and more com pasis more durable and solid than a Regency. Althat the King will shortly become quite brinst. It is a question, therefore, of inquediate significance, in the present aspect of European affairs, whether the sovereignly of Prussia shall pass at once into keeping of the Prince Regent, or to be transferred from him to bisson, Frederic William, son-in law of Victoria.

A Mysterious Marriage. A correspondent of the Newark Advertiser writes as follows:

The article about a singular dream in vonr ver the means of reviving my remembrance of another case of a similar character, the parties in which man of twenty-five, of a nervous-bilious tempera not added polish or improved his views of the gentler sex; however, from early youth he had entertained certain well-defined ideas of proper conjugal relations, and was ever hoping for an ideal partner to lid the void caused by the loss of a loved and loving mother.

In one of the New England States resided Miss L., passing twenty-five, mild and amiable. For a period of years she had resisted the persecutions of a sellish parent, who, for pecuniary reasons, would have coerced her to marry a man thrice her own age. Twice had she been induced to consent to a marriage, and twice evaded if—the last time the wedding cothes and every preparation for a trip to Europe were made, but as the time for its consummation approached, her excessive grief again postponed the affair. In speaking of it Miss L expressed her firm conviction that she should meet the counterpart of the person presented at her bedside, and would marry him. Two years past; meanwhile Mr. W. then residing at Philadelphia, heard, through an intimate friend, of Miss L. and her waking dream, and was assured by this friend that he answered to the description given. When an opportunity occurred he visited the Last quite unexpectedly, and arranged to be introduced to the lady under another name than his own-choosing that of a young man whose mother Miss L. knew, but not the son. On meeting for the first time, and being introduced, Miss L. was observed to look searchingly at the gentleman, and after some common-place remaks inquired where his mother was. The peculiarity of the quesiion caused him to in-cline his head forward for a moment, when Miss cline his head torward for a moment, when hiss L, recognizing the position, instantly flushed np, and called him by his proper name. Three days subsequently, at a mutual friend's house, Mr. W. rose troin the dinner table, and acting from an unaccountable and irresistible impulse, not at all premeditated, followed the lady into another room, and in less than three months from that time they were married, notwithstanding Miss L.'s often and emphatically repeated assertion that she never would marry a man younger than

THE BLACK TONGUE — DEER DESTROYED BY HERDS.—We learn that the disease known in the West and Sonthwest as "Black Tongue" is West and Sonthwest as "Black Tongue" is prevailing to a fearful extent among animals in the lower part of this State, the deer and cattle being the chief victims of its ravages. Mr. David Rhodes informs the editor of the Ironton Furnace, that he saw fonrieen dead deer at one pond in Bollinger county, and numbers of others acattered through the woods, some dead and others dring from the effects of the malady. In Wayne county, no less than fifty were found dead, near Greenwood Valley in that county, and in the neighboring woods the air was loaded with the stench from their carcasses. At the Falling Spring, in Carter county, thirty died in one night; and at Eleven Point, in Oregon county, a large number was found. The cattle have been attached number was found. The cattle have been attacked by the affection, also; but its effects on them have not been so terrible as on the deer, which are restaned with utter extermination. ease is the same, we presume, as that which caused such havec among the deer of Florida, about a year ago.—St. Louis News.

LOUISVILLE:

Reading Matter on Every Page.

Our Relations with the Louisville Democrat. A few days before the late election, the Hon. Beriah Magoffin made a speech at Georgetown, Ky. We received and published two letters concerning that speech, but not a word was said in them about Magoffin saying "that before he would go to Congress for protection, he would defend his rights at the point of the bayonet." Our letters were from correspondents who would have informed us of such an extraordinary position if it had really been taken by Magoslin, in the face of his published platform, from his own pen, in favor of protection in a peaceful and states-

The Louisville Democrat, which claims to bave its "own correspondents," did not, bowever, to onr knowledge, say one word about this Georgetown speech of Mr. Mogostin until the late election was over. Certainly the Democrat did not say that Mr. Magoffin would appeal to the bayonet, and plunge the country in civil war, rather than ask Congress to do what he proclaimed from every stump in Kentucky to be the power and the duty of the National Legislature. When the election was over, however, the Democrat, which had given the world a specimen of its reliability by claiming the Hon. John C. Breckinridge, Beriab Mscoffin, and others, as squatter sovereigns for the purpose of propping up and giving respectability to its own Douglas mad position, had the audacity to print the tollowing paragraph in relation to

Mr. Magollin, our able and talented Governor elect, said that before he would go to Congress for protection he would defend his rights at the at of the bayonet. Mr. Donglas has never

We replied that this paragraph was a slander upon Mr. Magotlin, and that it was not published before the election because it might have lost votes to Magoffin and subscribers to the Democrat. That is what we believed when we first saw the paragraph in question, and that is what we believe yet in spate of the low, dirty and unprovoked reply of the Democrat. And, now, what are onr reasons for this belief? We will state some of them, and leave it to all candid men to determine whether or not this belief is well founded. Magoffin spoke at Georgetown on the 24th of July. Previous to that time, be had spoken all over the State, and had never manifested such a revolutionary spirit as to appeal to arms, and to inaugurate civil war, rather than ask Congress to do what be claimed to be the power and duty of Congress. In addition to this fact, we had more than one letter from those who heard him speak u'. Georgetown, and not a word was said about his taking such a revolutionary position on the protection question. And further still, Mr. Magolfin had written out, with his own hand, and given to the press, the platform on which he stood and was elected, which is directly antagonistic to the revolutionary and civil war paragraph of the Democrat, and which is straightont in favor of peaceful and statesmanlike protection, in the following words:

"That Congress has the power to protect while it cannot prohibit slavery in the Territories; that the Territorial Legislature as its agent, cannot exclude or abolish slavery, directly or indirectly by untriendly legislation; that such legislation is wold, and would be declared unconstitutional by the l'ederal Courts; that it is the duty of the Territorial Legislature to protect slave property, and property of all kinds; that the rights of property of all kinds are under the protection of the gov-ernment, the Constitution and the laws; that our rights and remedics seem to be now complete in the Territories, and nothing has occurred to show their inadequacy; that the Democratic party has brought us to this position of safety against all the efforts of the Opposition, entertaining different opinions on the subject, and forming combinations to destroy it; that the struggles and victories over other parties have clearly shown that ourse is the only party capable of protecting our rights, or guarding them in the luture; and if it should be necessary to pass laws to enforce the decrees of the judiciary, or even to call out troops, that it would be the duty of the government to do so." ir inadequacy; that the Democratic party h

With all this evidence before us, then, we could not believe that Magoffin had taken any such position at Georgetown. It was contrary to what he had said everywhere else, contrary to his writteu record, and contrary to all the information we had gotten from reliable sources concerning him. As, therefore, the Democracy of Kentneky had voted for him with a diffe ent understanding, we nounced the paragraph in question as a slander upon our gallant Governor, whom we believe to be more of a statesman and patriot than to occupy such a revolting position. We might have added that it was an outrage even to couple him with Douglas as the Democrat did.

And now as to the second point. If the editor of the Democrat knew before the election that Magoffin said he would rather appeal to arms than ask Congress for protection, why did he not say so? He indorsed this revolutionary position, and "said the same thing in substance a thousand times." If the sentiment suited him--if be be lieved it was right-if he had said it himself a thousand times, why did be not let the voters of Kentucky know before they went to the polls that he and Magollin agreed upon this one point, if upon no other? He had claimed Mr. Magoffin as a brother squatter sovereign until Magossin repudiated this heresy upon every stump in the State. He had claimed bim as a Douglasite, until Magothin said there was about as much chance for the Little Giant at Charleston as there was for bis name sake, the free nizger. He bad told his readers that Magoffin was a non-interventionist, until that gentleman drew up and published his own platform, without mentioning the term non-intervention, but em ploying terms which sbut cut all hopes of the Democrat's idea of non-intervention. Thus repudiated in every position assigned Magoffin, what a nice thing it would at last have been for the Douglas-mad editor to have said that Magoffin agreed with him in preferring an appeal to arms to quietly asking Congress to protect slavery in Territories!

When, therefore, the editor of the Democrat failed to make this charge of revolution and civil war npon Magoffin until the election was over, we naturally enough inferred that he was afraid to do so. Even if he did not care how many votes such an ontrageous position might lose Ma goffin, he may not have felt like risking the few protection men in the proper sense who took his paper, whether they read it or not. We were riven to this inference from the fact that wante we were discussing with the Democ. at, some time ago, the question of admitting Kansas into the Union as a slave State, under the Lecompton Constitution, we being for the new slave State and the Democrat against it, one of the editors of that strange paper told as that the Lecompton question was injuring his business, and requested us not to say anything more about the Democrat in that connection.

It is hardly necessary to add that we listened to this appeal of that editor of the Democrat, and let his paper pass for a long time on the Lecompton question. We went so far in a spirit of conciliation and pity as to offer no objections to the semi-Douglasism that got through our last State Convention, and even advocated the claims of young man now attached to the Democrat for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction in spite of the feeling all over the State, strong enough to crush any man in the Democrat office, or even of kin to any one there. We had promised, however, to help out what we considered a starving concern worthy of charity, and we kept our word.

When, however, the question of protection to the rights of slaveholders in the Territories came the rights of slaveholders in the Territories came up, and we found the Democrat, which had opposed the admission of Kansas as a slave State, still following Donglas in his hostility to the South, we again assailed that paper and showed up, as well between Second and Third, opposite Bank of Kentucity. opposite Bank or Kenvely, and its ascribles

We must suggest to the Democrat, however, that its terrible wrath at being suspected of the very common desire to retain the few subscribers it now has does not accord with its new dress, and other vaunted but unreal evidences of modern prosperity, nor justify the use of epithets worthy of a MONDAY AUGUST 22, 1859. acter in the domain of Billingsgate, when sdvice we can give the very sensitive Douglaspelled to consider its authors as unworthy of no-

> The Owensboro Democrat on Douglas. The Democrat, published at Owensboro, Kentucky, is down on Douglas like a thousand of bricks. The Little Giant is designated as a letter writer and a fit associate for Van Buren and oth ers long since kicked out of the Democratic ranks. Here is the style in which the Owensboro Democrat, which is but an echo of the voice of every single, sound, reliable and respectable Democratic paper in Kentucky, speaks of Douglas :

> From the many letters written by Judge Doug-las, he appears to be very unessy as to the platlas, he appears to be very uneasy as to the plat-form that is to he framed in 1860 by the Democrat-ic party. The Judge would like, no doubt, to draft the resolutions for the Convention that will meet in Charleston in 1850. We have great con-fidence in the Judge as a jurist, but very little confidence in him as a Democrat; it is thought by some that if the Little Giant fails getting the nomination from the Democratic party, he will run on his own hook as an independent candidate; but before entering on auch a canvass, we would advise him to visit Kinderhook and get Mr. Van Fenton is dead; and Mr. Van Buren is the mly suitable man to write those mournful para raphs. Give us James Guthrie aud a conserva tive Democrat from one of the Northern States and Democracy will rally around them with victo ry perched on their hanners.

A certain Cure for Fever and Ague, Remittent and Intermittent Fever, and mittent and Intermittent Fever, and all Billious Complaints.

It is a well known fact that the different fevers and billious complaints are caused by the polacous massma and exhatations from the surface of the earth, which are taken into the system by respiration. To neutralise this subtlepoison and counteract its effect and with this view the "French Tropical Fever and Ague Mixture" has been prepared. The high reputation which this medicine has gained within so short a time in the South and West where is has been lutroduced, is a sufficient proof for its superiority above all other compounds of the same kind. As an antidote to maisria, this medicine sfands univalled; and ssi its parely vegetable, it can be safely given to children and deficate patients, not only in case of fever, but in all cases where a cood tonic is required. The French Tropical Fever and Ague Mixture is prepared by [B. LAPLACE, Chemist and Druggist, New Orsands and sold by all respectable druggists throughout this city.
